(ii) be robed

(iii) be invested with the Chain of Office by Mr Craig Spaulding, Mayor's Chaplain, who shall indicate in the following manner:

Regalia and insignia have been associated with public life in the history of the British peoples for many centuries. The robes worn by Her Majesty the Queen, the wigs and gowns of the law and the robes of the clergymen are all outward and visible signs of the Office held by the wearer. The Mayor's robes and chain are outward signs of the civic office to which he or she has been elected by her or his community.

In investing you with this Chain of Office, may I express the hope that there will never be wanting people of sound judgment and learning ready to undertake the work of Local Government as a vocation and that mutual service may unite all people of this municipality to work together for the common good.

You are asked to receive this chain as a token of your authority in the civic life of this community. Wear it without reproach and with dignity that befits your high office.

(iv) assume the Chair.

The Mayor will assume the Chair for the remainder of the meeting.
